You Can Give a Busy Person Additional Time

Want to give a practical gift this Christmas that's so special you'll likely get complimented on your thoughtfulness for years to come?

Give a dishwasher, a labor-saving appliance that, according to the Maytag Consumer Information Center, can save the equivalent of one eight-hour day a week. You can't give a busy person a nicer gift than that much extra time.

Just because the planned recipient of the gift lives in a rented apartment or home doesn't mean you can't go ahead and give a dishwasher. There are convertible models available — portable dishwashers that can be built in later.

They're perfectly suited to "on-the-go" families and situations where 24 inches of cabinet aren't available. Finished on all sides, and easy to move about on heavy-duty casters, they can be parked at the end of a line of cabinets, under a counter or any other place that's free.

Models with energy-saving features, such as no-dry cycles are available, and add to the product's value. The dishwasher's capacity should be large enough to meet the family's needs: washing an entire day's load of soiled dishes each evening conserves water as well as energy. To reap the full benefits a dishwasher has to offer, be sure it has high-velocity water action — ideally, full-size spray arms on the top and bottom as well as a center spray-nozzle.

For families that may move to a new location, it's especially important that their dishwasher is covered by a warranty that moves right along with them, providing convenience in the years ahead, wherever they go. †

Christmas Shoppers "Find and Keep" New Two-in-One Game for the Family

When it comes to making Christmas a little extra-special, choosing the right gift for a youngster can make all the difference. When the gift is a game, what does it take to be called extra-special? Some say it must require skill. Others say speed is the key. And some buffs like the pure suspense of a real game of chance. But all would agree that an inexpensive game, combining all these elements, makes an ideal recreational item for the whole family.

"Finders Keepers," a new, two-in-one family game from Schaper, combines all of these elements into a suspenseful game for players, ages five and up.

For younger children, the set contains an action board filled with 16 easily recognizable shapes. Adults and older children will want to use the advanced pieces which are more difficult to identify.

The game presents the not-so-easy task of identifying a geometric shape printed on a drawn card, then locating and removing the corresponding three-dimensional piece from the board. Sound easy? It's not when time is running out.

As each player draws a card, he simultaneously triggers the release of a metal marble located at the top half of the board. The marble then descends through a winding maze. The player must quickly "match and snatch" the correct piece, because when the marble drops onto the board's lower half, it triggers a pin which locks all the remaining pieces into place. A player scores only when he has removed the proper piece in time.

The winner of this fast-moving, educational game is the player with the most points when the deck of cards has been exhausted. And, because the brightly colored shapes can be repositioned after each game, no two rounds will be exactly alike. †

Holiday Lights

Personal preference usually determines one's choice of Christmas lights, although miniatures are generally preferred as they avoid overheating.

Be sure to test lights before use either in the store prior to purchase or at home.

Wed In Afternoon Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Mary Helen Hull, daughter of Captain (USN) and Mrs. Fred Albron Hull of Annandale, Virginia, and Kenneth Lee Hawkins, son of Mrs. J. Robert Jamerson, of Appomattox, Virginia, and Carroll Lee Hawkins, of Lynchburg, Virginia, was solemnized on Saturday, December 10th, at two in the afternoon in the Church of the Good Shepherd in Burke, Virginia with the Reverend Philip Johnston officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her Father, wore her Mother's wedding gown of lace and tulle over bridal satin, fashioned with a long sleeved lace bodice, the curved neckline of which was embroidered with seed pearls. Her veil of illusion was attached to a lace bandeau sprinkled with seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of silk roses and lily of the valley.

Miss Debra Joy Hawkins, sister of the groom, of Richmond, Virginia, was maid of honor. She wore a full length gown of dusty rose jersey. The bodice featured a V-neckline with short capelet sleeves and was fashioned in a side-wrap peplum style. Her colonial bouquet was of burgundy silk roses and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Miss Helen Elizabeth Hull, cousin of the bride, of Annandale, Virginia, and Miss Barbara Jean Spahr, of Tampa, Florida. They wore burgundy gowns similar to the maid of honor's and carried bouquets of dusty rost silk roses and baby's breath.

Carroll Lee Hawkins was his son's best man. Ushers were Robert Charles Hull, brother of the bride, of Athens, Georgia; William E. Jamerson, uncle of the groom, of Appomattox, Virginia; James E. Gregory, of Madison Heights, Virginia; and Carl G. Lind, of Weyer's Cave, Virginia.

The bride's Mother wore a burgundy velveteen suit with matching accessories. Her corsage was rubrum lily.

The groom's Mother was attired in jade green with a white orchid corsage.

The couple will reside in Annandale, Virginia.

Doctor Advises:

Let Yourself Go On Holidays!

When a holiday comes, run with it, advises a Chicago doctor.

"Don't feel guilty about letting yourself go when you can. Being able to relax doesn't feed your neuroses. Rather, it is essential if you are to maintain your psychic equilibrium. Every organ of your body needs it," said Dr. Edward A. Newman of Michael Reese Hospital and Medical Center.

"Then, when you get back to work you'll feel good. You'll be in a state of temporary euphoria," he added.

"If you aren't, then you abused your holiday. Either you didn't relax or you played too hard."

Dr. Newman favors periods of self-indulgence as essential to health in our pressured world. He loves Monday holidays because they make weekends longer than normal several times a year.

"These bonus days are really therapeutic. They give us something to look forward to. Like ads say, it's 'the pause that refreshes.' We all need release from our daily obligations, need to lose ourselves in moments of pure pleasure once in a while," he said.

He added that "Just doing nothing is pleasure for a lot of people. Furthermore the daily pressures of having to do lots of things give many people hyperirritated and spastic digestive systems. They are too nervous to eat properly. When a holiday comes, they can relax and enjoy food."

Dr. Newman, whose specialty is gastroenterology, said "You should eat to satisfy not stuff yourself. Likewise, if you like sports, go to it on the holidays but don't overdo. Remember you may feel good while you're relaxed but you are in danger of taxing your physical reserves if you strain. If you do, you'll be sorry when the holiday is over."

"Keep your holidays pleasant experiences. Let yourself go but be comfortable within your own limitations," he concluded.

U.D.C. MEETING HELD

The Appomattox Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy met at John Mosby Inn Restaurant on December 15 for a buffet luncheon. Meeting with the chapter were members of Old Dominion Chapter of Lynchburg.

Mrs. Harriette Cunningham presided at the meeting which opened with the pledge to the United States Flag and salutes to the Virginia and Confederate Flags. This was followed with the ritual and prayer of the UDC.

It was reported by Mrs. Thelma Martin that Christmas baskets of fruit have been sent to six of our members. Another member who is a real daughter and has been very ill has been remembered with a love gift. Four lap robes were given to a local home for the aged.

Mrs. Louise Plunkett, chairman of the Confederate Cemetery Committee, has arranged to have the cemetery cleaned off, and will place a Christmas wreath at the Confederate monument.

A door prize was given and Mrs. Rachel Lawson was the recipient.

Mrs. Lucille Ferrell, historian of the chapter, presented a program on Mosby's Raids. This was the subject of a prize winning essay written by one of the members in a state wide contest. The setting was very appropriate as on the wall of the restaurant named for the famous partisan raider hung a picture of the owner's grandfather who was one of John Mosby's raiders during the War Between The States. Also, there was a framed map of Northern Virginia depicting the area in which Mosby made his famous raids on the Federal troops.

The meeting concluded with special music presented by Mr. Tommy Terry. He delightfully entertained the group with seasonal songs and then led them in the singing of a southern number which ended the meeting.
